

COVID-19 TESTING SITES

UPDATED: NOVEMBER 2020

Considerations for who should get tested:

- People who have symptoms of COVID-19
- People who have had close contact (within 6 feet of an infected person for a total of 15 minutes or more) with someone with confirmed COVID-19.
- People who have been asked or referred to get testing by their healthcare provider, local or state health department.

What to do after a viral test

- If you test positive for COVID-19, know what protective steps to take if you are sick.
  - Most people have mild COVID-19 illness and can recover at home without medical care. Contact your healthcare provider if your symptoms are getting worse or if you have questions about your health.
- If you test negative for COVID-19, you probably were not infected at the time your sample was collected. This does not mean you will not get sick:
  - A negative test result only means that you did not have COVID-19 at the time of testing or that your sample was collected too early in your infection.
  - You could also be exposed to COVID-19 after the test and then get infected and spread the virus to others.
  - If you have symptoms later, you may need another test to determine if you are infected with the virus that causes COVID-19.
