What is an unusual circumstance?

An unusual circumstance occurs when a financial aid administrator exercises professional judgment and overrides the Department of Education's criteria for dependent students. An override may only be granted on a case-by-case basis for students with unusual and exceptional circumstances. These circumstances must show compelling reasons for a student to be considered independent rather than dependent.

What conditions DO NOT warrant an unusual circumstance?

By Federal Law, the following conditions DO NOT warrant a usual circumstance

- Parents refuse to provide information on the Free Application for Federal Student Aid (FAFSA) application or for verification
- Parents do not claim student as a dependent for income tax purposes
- Parents unwilling or unable to contribute to student's education
- Student demonstrates self-sufficiency

When completing the 2026-2027 Free Application for Federal Student Aid (FAFSA), you answered YES to "Do unusual circumstances prevent the student from contacting their parents or would contacting their parents pose a risk to the student?" We understand the sensitive nature of these circumstances; all documentation received by our office will be kept confidential.
